Course overview

Clinical trials rely on accurate, real world data (RWD) to validate the drug assessment efficacy program. As a result, all patient data endpoints related to the interaction with the drug are critical to the success of the trial.

Just over ten years ago, sponsors began to realise the 'pain' which is associated with poor adherence. This led to an industry push for new, innovative digital and medical technology solutions. During this course we will explore a wide range of adherence monitoring tools designs from around the world.

There will be a chance to engage in an open discussion to determine the value of remote patient adherence monitoring. You will also learn what's next and how to stay ahead of the curve.
