Course overview

Ensuring the quality and compliance of suppliers is crucial to maintaining the safety and efficacy of products in the pharmaceutical industry. Supplier audits play a vital role in this process, as they assess whether material and service providers meet the stringent standards required for pharmaceutical manufacturing.

This training is designed to equip you with the knowledge and practical skills necessary to effectively conduct supplier audits, covering both materials and services. Whether you are responsible for auditing raw material suppliers, contract manufacturers, or service providers such as logistics and packaging suppliers, this programme will provide you with the tools to evaluate their processes, identify potential risks, and ensure compliance with regulatory requirements like Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP) and other industry standards.

By the end of this training, you will be better prepared to manage supplier relationships confidently, ensuring that all materials and services meet the highest industry standards, thereby protecting your company, products, and customers.

Benefits of attending
